

Aviation and Marine Overview

Global procurement agents

Charles Kendall is a specialist in the procurement, supply and support of aircraft and marine parts and associated equipment to civil airlines, military air forces, marine agencies and militaries—a position we are extremely proud of.

We are able to source and provide an extensive range of airfield and marine spares, security hardware and consultancy.

We concentrate above all on the exact needs of our customers. We listen intently on what our customers require and we tailor to make a service to suit them.

The benefits of using Charles Kendall as your appointed procurement agent include reduced sourcing times for individual items and reduced communication times by having one point of contact for the total supply chain.

We can also reduce times of AOG and add value by integrating into your business and providing a single reliable supplier which leads to economies for your business. From cost savings in the prices for goods, reduced inventory costs to a reduction in freight costs by using consolidation services where suitable.

Complete service

Working for both commercial and military clients, our services cover all aspects of procurement. From supply, inventory holding and AOG to repairs & returns, testing & calibration and track & trace.

As part of the global Charles Kendall Group, we can deliver bespoke, expert, and reliable end-to-end supply chain solutions. From procurement to packing, logistics, transportation and delivery, anywhere in the world.
